NON-ACADEMIC POSITION

1978 - 1982 Senior Analyst, Abt Associates Inc., Cambridge, MA

FIELDS OF SPECIALIZATION

Sociology of Education; Education and Social Policy; Inequality and Social Stratification; Quantitative Research Methods; Labor Markets; Gender

AWARDS

Willard Waller Career Achievement Award from the Sociology of Education Section of the American Sociological Association, 2020

Elected President of the Sociological Research Association, 2010-11

Elected Fellow, American Educational Research Association, 2009

Honored at the White House by President Clinton for the creation of Reading One-to-One, which was the model for Clinton's America Reads Initiative, 1997

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

University of California, Irvine (2008 - 2022). Theory and Practice of Reading Interventions for Students At-Risk for Reading Failure, Introduction to Statistics, Structural Equation Modeling, Social Capital, Education Policy and Politics

The Pennsylvania State University (2000 - 2008). Introduction to Graduate Study, Inequality in Educational Attainment, Inequality in Child Development, Inequality in Labor Markets, Statistical Methods for Social Research, Programs and Policies to Reduce Inequality, Great Modern Books and Articles, Social Stratification Module (Grad Proseminar), Interventions to Improve the Life Chances of At-Risk Children.

The University of Texas at Dallas (1982-99). Social Stratification, Economic Sociology, Poverty and Inequality, Statistical Research Methods, Public Policy Analysis, Labor Markets, Sociology of Education, Dissertation Seminar, Theories of Political Economy.

Yale University (1972-1978). Social Stratification, Population and the Labor Force, Labor Markets, Statistical Research Methods.

Cornell University Summer Institute in Demography (1971, summer), Special Instructor in Demographic Methodology.

RESEARCH: My current research interests center on educational inequality and child development, and studies of programs to increase educational opportunity for children from low-income households.

From the National Science Foundation, Sociology Program, 1989-92. (with P. England). "Gender Differences in Wages." $107,000.

Research Project Participant, 1986-88. Projects funded for approximately $70,000 by the North Carolina Department of Human Resources (with G. Bowen: "Child Care-Welfare Demonstration Project"); the U.S. Department of Education (with L. Hotchkiss: two projects on vocational education); and the Army Research Institute (with E. Stromsdorfer: "Spouse Employment and Military Retention").

Problems of the Discipline grant (approximately $7,500) from the American Sociological Association for a conference on "The Integration of Sociological and Economic Perspectives on Economic Structure and Labor Market Outcomes." 1985-86. Papers published by Plenum in a book edited by Farkas and England.

For the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development, NIH, 1984-86. This grant, "Fertility and Poverty--Data from a Large Experiment," was joint with Dr. R.J. Olsen of Ohio State University. We used data from the YIEPP evaluation (see below) to investigate the determinants and consequences of adolescent fertility among youths from low-income households. $188,800 divided equally between UTD and Ohio State.

*Co-Principal Investigator

Organized Research Grant, University of Texas at Dallas, 1983-84. "Youths from Low Income Households: A grant of approximately $20,000 for data consolidation and analysis.

*Principal Investigator

For the Manpower Demonstration Research Corporation and the U.S. Department of Labor, 1978 -1983. This contract (approximately $5 million) to Abt Associates was the impact evaluation of the Youth Incentive Entitlement Pilot Projects (YIEPP). These demonstration projects, created by the 1977 Youth Act, were designed to test the feasibility of a national program which offers a part-time job during the school year and a full-time job during the summer to all 16-19 year old youths from low-income households who have not graduated from high school, are enrolled in school, and who apply. Over 2.5 years of operation the program enrolled more than 80,000 youths in 17 sites at a total cost of more than $250 million. This evaluation involved four waves of data collected for an initial sample of 7,553 youths in four pilot, and four matched control sites.

*Deputy Director of Research. Leader of the group designing and carrying out the econometric analysis.

For the U.S. Department of Labor, 1979-82. This research project (approximately $3 million), conducted by Abt Associates with the Institute for Research on Poverty at the University of Wisconsin and Stanford Research Institute International was part of the evaluation of the Employment Opportunity Pilot Projects (EOPP). The EOPP were demonstration projects in 15 sites to test the feasibility of providing subsidized employment and training, as well as job search assistance, to welfare clients. Our research objective was to understand the behavior of private sector employers with regard to the employment and training of subsidized and unsubsidized workers. Toward this end, we analyzed a specially collected telephone/mail survey of a stratified random sample of 6,000 employers in 28 program and comparison sites.

*Principal Investigator. Designed and directed all phases of the analysis.

For the U.S. Department of Labor, 1981-1982. This contract (approximately $2 million) was the impact evaluation of the Downriver Community Conference Economic Readjustment Program, presently operating in Wayne County, Michigan. The Research goal is to evaluate the cost-effectiveness of retraining and job placement services developed with extensive private sector involvement for experienced workers laid off from the automotive and related industries.

*Technical Reviewer. Reviewer for all econometric work.

For the Manpower Demonstration Research Corporation and the U.S. Department of Labor, 1979-1981.

A subcontract of approximately $500,000 from Abt Associates to Unicon Research Corporation to assist in the evaluation of the labor market effects of YIEPP.

*Project Director. Responsible for all aspects of data collection (field and telephone interviews).

For the U.S. Department of Labor, 1978-1981. This contract (approximately $2 million) to Abt Associates was the impact evaluation of the Minnesota Work Equity Program, a demonstration of a program to test the feasibility of providing subsidized employment opportunities for welfare recipients.

*Technical Reviewer. Reviewer for all econometric work.
